Ethical Statement

IPVarna Law Review is dedicated to maintaining the highest ethical standards in scholarly publishing. We commit to transparency, integrity, and adherence to internationally recognized guidelines to ensure that all aspects of the publication process are conducted fairly and responsibly.

We rigorously uphold principles of fairness and non-discrimination throughout manuscript evaluation. All submissions are assessed solely on their academic merit, originality, and relevance to the field of Intellectual Property Law, without any bias or discrimination based on an author's race, gender, nationality, geographic location, institutional affiliation, or any other personal characteristic.

By fostering an inclusive and equitable publishing environment, IPVarna Law Review aims to support diverse voices and promote excellence in legal scholarship worldwide.
